TUBA NEWS ITEMS

Forest Guard Garthwaite, accompanied by Walter C. Stanton, of Cincinnati, Ohio, who is holding down the position of additional farmer temporarily, left a few days ago for the Marsh Pass section, taking along machinery, tools and help sufficient to put the road through the Pass in shape for travel. The Indians living in the vicinity have agreed to help along the work materially, as the road must be gotten in shape by the time the contract for materials for the new Marsh Pass school is placed. In its present condition the road would not be passable for the freighters, and an effort will be made to blast out the rock and get a permanent roadway through the dangerous portion of the route. The task will take the greater part of the month.

An additional position of nurseryman has been created at this school, and the same will be filled as soon as the Indian office can find the proper man. This is a step in the right direction as the numerous orchards here require the constant attention of a competent man, and the intention is, if possible, to raise young nursery stock to supply the Indians who desire it as well as the surrounding schools where fruit trees are not grown at all at the present time.

S. S. Preston, with his wife and son, Master Scott, drove with their new touring car in to Flagstaff in five hours on Saturday, returning the following afternoon. They brought with them Mrs. S.

R. Thompson of Los Angeles, who will assist Mrs. Preston during the time the new trading post is in course of construction. Mrs. Thompson was at Tuba last summer in the capacity of mess cook, and was anxious to return.

Mrs. C. W. Mullikin, wife of the school physician, has been quite ill during the past week or two.

The warm weather of the first week in May has brought forth the foliage on the fruit and shade trees and Tuba is taking on her most engaging appearance.

The Desert Club gave one of its periodical social stunts on the evening of May first, the event being designated as "May Day Maneuvers." The crowd which attended was the largest group of white people ever assembled on the reservation, there being thirty-nine plates laid at the banquet which preceded the other exercises.

The banquet, which was given at the mess hall at eight o'clock consisted of three courses, the tables being prettily decorated with cut flowers and a tiny May basket at each plate. Considerable sport was occasioned by the "boquet" pinned on each guest at the entrance of the dining room, said boquet consisting of one green onion tied with red ribbon. Place cards, on which the name of the guest was written in reverse style, helped to add to the momentary confusion, but all soon found their proper places and thoroughly enjoyed the spread of good things.

During the progress of the meal responses to toasts were made by Miss Snelling, Messrs. Pfeifer, Jefferis, Murphy, and Dr. Mullikin, in which were combined wit, humor and logic. Numerous pleasing compliments were paid to the Desert Club for its good work in creating and cementing the very evident feeling of good fellowship now existing among the employees and other white persons at the school.

The preparation of the supper was under direction of Mrs. May Goodwin, mess cook, and the service was in charge of Misses Edwardson, Toupin and Marble, aided by two of the Indian pupils. After the banquet was over the company repaired to the assembly hall, where a cozy retreat had been fitted up at one corner, with Navajo blankets, rockers and decorations of potted plants, cut flowers, wreaths and the like.

The four pillars in the assembly room were wound with colored ribbon after the manner of May poles. Numerous contests were provided in which the guests of the evening took part, the first being an effort to carry a lemon across the room balanced on a silver fork, in which Mrs. Clara Stanton proved the most successful and received good-sized lemon in the center of a boquet, while Mr. George Roark succeeded in dropping his lemon first and received the booby prize, consisting of a lemon drop.

In the sack race, participated in by six gentlemen, Mr. Earl Boyer proved a winner and received a sack of pinon nuts. In knocking down a bottle with tennis balls, Mrs. Constance Clark proved the most adept and received a prize of ten pins. In rolling a peanut across the room with a toothpick, Mr. C. V. Williams won by a scratch and was given a prize string of peanuts. Mrs. S. S. Preston demonstrated her ability to drive into a plank the most nails in a given length of time and was awarded a nail brush as a prize.

In hopping across the room on one foot Mr. W. H. Pfeifer made the best time and is now the possessor of a package of hops. A piano solo by Mrs. Clara Stanton was greeted with sufficient applause to bring another as was also a vocal duet "Maying" by Mrs. and Miss Marble. Five dance numbers were interspersed with the program and enjoyed by the devotees of this class of entertainment as much as any portion of the evening. Pink lemonade was served.

Mr. J. C. Blake of Phoenix came out with Mr. S. S. Preston when he brought out his touring car, from Flagstaff, and remained a week the guest of the Preston family. He returned home on Saturday last.

Mr. Keith Warren came down from his Red Lake trading post to attend the May Day maneuvers of the Desert Club.

Earl Nomkena, in charge of the shoe and harness shop, spent last week visiting relatives at Oraibi.

George Bancroft, the interpreter, is spending a couple of weeks out in the reservation, looking after the shearing of his flocks of sheep.

Mr. L. B. Hart of Los Angeles will remain for some weeks with Mr. S. S. Preston, looking after the big touring car until the new owner becomes better acquainted with the mechanism of the vehicle.
